RECREATION SCHEDULE SET

Full Entertainment And Play Schedule Slated Thru Summer By Recreation Dept.

Summertime will be playtime in Daly City if Elman Rose's Recreation department has anything to say about it—and they intend to say a great deal.

With a slogan of "Summer Fun For Everyone," the department yesterday announced its program of entertainment and sport for every member of the family from Junior to Mom and Pop.

Beginning next Monday, June 16, and running through August 29, the fun-slate includes everything from basebal lto horseshoes to movies. Special instruction classes are planned for many activities and tournaments in the various sports are ready to get under way.

Under the direction of Rose, director of recreation for the city, and Joe Ballarin, supervisor of recreation, the summer schedule is divided into five sections: eight-year-olds and under, boys, girls, teen-agers, and last but certainly not least, adults.

Activities for the youngsters are planned for every day of the week while adults will find occupation for them slated for the weekends and after work hours.

Scheduled for the grownups are folk dancing—to allow the distaff side to get in the act—to be held Wednesday evenings at Castle Hall, horseshoes, an advanced band for the musically inclined, baseball, softball, tennis and archery.

Special day camping for girls and the teen-agers division will begin Monday and run through June 26, with the exception of the weekend of June 20-22. The Recreation department is co-sponsoring this activity with the Daly City Girl Scouts.

For the small fry, eight years and under, two major activities are ready for the summer. An arts and crafts shop will be held each day of the week at either Parkview, Crocker, Jefferson Elementary or Westlake school. A story-telling hour will be given Tuesdays and Thursdays at both Westlake and Crocker schools.

Most popular presentation will probably be a showing of mivies on Monday mornings at Jefferson Union High, and Monday afternoons at Bellevue Hall. The films will include "My Friend Flicka," "Canadian Pacific," and "Buffalo Bill," and will feature such well-known stars as Shirley Temple, Laurel and Hardy, and Randolph Scott.

Best favored, of course, will be the boys division, with league play and unscheduled activities in virtually every sport. But the girls will not be slighted. Only the more strenuous and traditionally masculine entertainment will be barred to them.

Playgrounds throughout the Daly City area wil lbe supervised Mondays through Fridays from 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., and on Saturdays from 9:30 to 1 o'clock. On Sundays, Marchbanks and Lincoln fields will be supervised from noon to 5 p. m.

Announcements will be made in the near future of dates for adult archery, badminton, table tennis and horseshoe tournaments.

The Daly City Recreation department urges all residents to take part in those activities best suited to them and especially to urge their children to do so.

A complete program of the summer activities may be obtained at City Hall from the Recreation department office, the water department office, or at the library or one of the many playgrounds in the city.

Information on unscheduled entertainemnts such as table tennis, volleyball or cards may be obtained from the playground directors.

Westlake School Ground Improvem't. Job Now Underway

Parents Rally To Aid In Raising Needed Funds

That the "desert" may be a place of beauty, the Jefferson elementary school board, in cooperaton with Westlake residents, is now improving the Westlake school grounds.

The "desert" is the half acre of sand surrounding the new school. During the past years it has posed a real problem to home owners.

At a meeting of the Westlake PTA this week, H. Z. Weibel, superintendent of schools, said the $33,000 project for improving a portion of the grounds in near completion.

The district is putting in storm drains and steps from the upper to lower level; ice plant on the slopes on the Fieldcrest side; lawn on the north side; and a 60-foot-wide strip of black top the length of the south side of the school.

Actual work of planting the playground appears to be up to interested citizens. Due to a shortage of funds, the school district is unable to finance the job of planting grass which may run from run $3,000 to $15,000.

However, a committee of Westlake PTA members, led by Harry Bosbery, plans to hold a series of parties to raise money for the planting project.

They will be guided by a master plan drawn up for the school district.

Members on Bosbery's committee include: Howard Dunbar, Fred Kruse, Charles Laurie, Lee Lester and Jack Wood.

Appoint New W'lake School Coordinator

Mrs. Louine Bostwick, fifth grade teacher at Westlake school, was appointed Curriculum Coordinator of the Jefferson Elementary School district at a recent meeting of the board of trustees.

The new position created by the board's action is designed to improve the whole program of education in the elementary schools with special emphasis on the basic subjects.

The coordinator will be on call to assist teachers with problems arising in the classroom, will organize committee groups to develop courses of study and will be instrumental in securing the most effective materials for classroom use.

Mrs. Bostwick has taught in the local district since 1945. Prior to coming to Daly City she taught school in Nevada, Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah.

A graduate of the University of Utah, Mrs. Bostwick is currently working on her masters degree at San Francisco State College and will have the degree conferred at the end of the coming semester.

Among her accomplishments the new curriculum coordinator is proudest of having reared five sons, the youngest born after the death of his father.

CHAMBER COMMERCE MEET SET TONIGHT

A meeting of the newly formed Chamber of Commerce will be held in city hall, 75 Wellington avenue, this evening, June 12, at 8 o'clock.

All interested businessmen and the public are invited to attend.

To date the Chamber has met with success in recruiting members, but additional members are still needed.

Local Business Boom Predicted

Credit Officer Sees Bright Future Here

Within the next 10 to 20 years Daly City is going to be the biggest business district in the Bay Area.

This was the prediction today of Frank T. Caldwell, general manager of the retail credit association. In a speech before the Lions Club last Wednesday, Caldwell said all indications pointed to "phenomenal" business growth here.

"The population trend is out of San Francisco toward the Peninsula," Caldwell said. "And Daly City will absorb a good part of this growth. With the increase in population will come more and more decentralized purchasing. People are going to stay at home to buy."

Caldwell also touched upon the problems of extending credit and the general credit organization.

Next week will be Lady's Day at the Lions Club with Hazel Donner, special service expert for the Sixth Army, as guest speaker.

And at 8 p.m. June 28 at the Coral Reef in Millbrae the Lions will install new officers. Hal Willis will be installed as the new president and 12 members will be presented with badges for 40 weeks of perfect attendance.

Sequoia High School District Teachers Join A. F. of L. Union

Teachers of another union high school district in the county recently moved to join the ranks of organized labor. At a special meeting June 5, a majority of the 157 members of Sequoia high school school district in Redwood City voted to join the A. F. of L. American Federation of Teachers.

The move marks the second time in recent weeks that such action has been taken. Two weeks ago, election of officers was held for the newly-organized Teachers' Local 119 in South San Francisco.

The Sequoia district—largest between San Francisco and Bakersfield, with three high schools in its jurisdiction—voted Robert Smith, head of the school music department, as its first president.

Members of the district board of trustees were taken completely by surprise by the unionization, though both groups were meeting at the same time in the same building.

According to reports, formation of the group stems from dissatisfaction on the part of the teachers with a move by the trustees to add an extra month to the teachers' working year without a corresponding increase in pay.

The recent resignation of Loren Critser as principal of Sequoia Union High school was not a major factor in the sudden decision to form the local, although Critser was regarded as a champion of the teachers' association.

NEWLY APPOINTED ASSISTANT MANAGER of the Bank of America, Daly City branch, is Joseph Firpo, member of many fraternal and social organizations in Daly City and San Francisco. Firpo began his career in 1923 in a San Francisco bank and was transferred to Daly City in 1931. He rose from a job as teller to the position of assistant cashier in 1941, and was made assistant cashier chief clerk in 1946, a position he held until the present advancement. Celebrating his silver wedding anniversary this year, Firpo now occupies the post vacated by Dan Harris on his recent appointment as manager of the bank.

THREE FIREMEN INJURED WHEN TALL LADDER SNAPS IN PRACTICE DRILL

Three Daly City volunteer firemen narrowly escaped death in a practice drill at 7:20 Wednesday evening when a 36-foot ladder they were mounting suddenly snapped in half.

Treated at Junipero Serra hospital for injuries were: Al Sundstrom, 48, 174 Crocker avenue, who was at the top of the ladder. He suffered a fractured heel. Andy Conati, 37, 372 Bellevue, was treated for contusions and abrasions of both knees. Dave Newman, 30, 271 Oliver, suffered contusions of his back and head.

Sundstrom was released from the hospital today, and neither of the other two men are reported to be seriously injured.

The three volunteer firemen are members of Company No. 4 who were carrying on a drill at Jefferson high school. The company had leaned the ladder against the north wall of the school gym and Sundstrom had scaled it to about a 30 foot level. Close behind, and helping him with the hose was Conati.

When the three piece ladder broke in the middle Sundstrom was hurled to the ground, carrying Conati with him. One of the two men struck Newman who was at the foot of the ladder.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy could give no reason today why the ladder should have broken.

"The ladder wasn't old and appeared to be in good condition," Kennedy said. "It was a duo-safety job in three sections. The break came in the middle section."

This is the first such accident in "many years," Kennedy concluded.

Sundstrom has been a member of the volunteer department since 1936 and the other two men have been members for the past six years.

FIRE LADDIES GREET FRIDAY 13th EARLY

Friday the 13th came two days early to the Daly City fire department this year.

Following the ladder accident in which three firemen were injured, a fire call came two hours later at an abandoned house at Castle and Hillside. Chief Elmer Kennedy reports children evidently set a smal lfire in a corner of the living room.

The blaze was brought under control, but Chief Kennedy said the downstairs living room was "pretty well gutted."

Just one hour later the fire alarm rang again. This time hose hoisters had little difficulty in putting out a smal lblaze atop a shed at Knowles avenue and Los Banos.

Friday the 13th came Wednesday evening for the men of the Daly City fire department.

CITY BUDGET EXPECTED TO INCREASE BUT LINE TO BE HELD ON TAX RATE

Adoption of the 1952-53 city budget and plans for construction and improvements in the year ahead will be revealed at the June 23 city council meeting.

No figures are available today as to the amount of the new budget; but it is expected to be from 10 to 15 per cent greater than the $573,721 alloted for 1951-52.

However, the combined tax and bond retirement rate of $1.295 per $100 assessed valuation probably will remain the same, or be raised only slightly.

This is possible, for despite the increase in city costs, the base for taxation—i.e. the assessed valuation for Daly City—has increased by about $2,500,000 to an all time high of close to $19,000,000 With a larger base for taxation it is possible to bring in additional revenue without necessarily upping individual taxes.

While the budget will be approved formally June 23, the coun-

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING SLATED FOR NEXT MONDAY

A special adjourned meeting of the city council will be held Monday evening, June 16, at 8 p.m. in city hall, 75 Wellington avenue.

The meeting has been called to open bids for utility buildings in Edgewood, Frankfort and Marchbanks parks. The council called the special meeting in order to speed up work on these structures.

All residents are cordially invited to attend.

Civilian Defense Effort Still Lags

Joint City-County Meetings Called Off

Civilian defense, city-wise and county-wise, hit a new low this week.

Representatives of the joint cities-county civil defense board last Friday voted to discontinue regular monthly meetings.

The meetings were called off pending receipt of national and state civil defense plans which have been in the hopper for the past two years.

All regular test air-raid alerts were also discontinued.

Captain C. J. Ballreich, civil defense cordinator for the past year, is to be replaced by E. Robert Stallings, county manager and civil defense director.

Locally, the city is expected to include some money in the 1952-53 budget for civilian defense. However, without state or national aid the local program has been greatly hindered.

City Administrator Dan Andersen still is continuing his efforts to secure a civilian defense director for Daly City.

B'moor Cops To Get New Radio Hookup

Broadmoor police have purchased two radio transmitters and receivers and will operate on the San Mateo county sheriff's office waveband in the near future. They are currently using the Daly City police department's radio service.

The new equipment will cost approximately $1000 and will be specially built for the department, reported Pat Patey, treasurer of the Broadmoor police commission.

Purchase of the transmitting-receiving sets was necessitated by the action of the Daly City council, who told the Broadmoor police commissioners that calls handled for them by the Daly City police equipment were more trouble than they were worth.

Patey announced that the county board of supervisors had passed a resolution approving cooperation between the sheriff's office radio dispatching unit and the Broadmoor police.

"We have permission from the FCC to set up our own radio station," he said, "but that takes more money than we've got."

He added that Broadmoor residents may soon be able to call the police station through the regular emergency number, PLaza 5-3838, or contact the sheriff's office to call the cruising patrol by radio.

"The new number will be an expense-paid operation," said Patey. "Under the arrangement, the police department here will pay for all calls made by Broadmoor residents to the privately circulated Enterprise number."

Patey also disclosed that final payment on the new police department building at 388 Eighty-eighth street will be made this week. Total cost is over $11,000.

Council Turns Down Classrooms; Would Hinder Building's Use

The city council this week rejected plans to use a portion of the Community Center building for elementary classrooms.

City Administrator Dan Andersen said the decision was predicated upon completion of the building within the next year.

"The council felt the center should not be tied up for classrooms when there is a possibility it will be completed for general community use," Andersen explained.

The move came as a surprise, as two months ago the city council appeared to favor renting the north end of the building for school rooms. Mayor Paul Green had made a survey of the structure with School Superintendent H. Z. Weibel, and it was concluded four to six rooms could be utilized for classes.

Jefferson elementary school board trustees made the request in an effort to find a way out of pressing shortages in facilities. Present school housing is crowded to the point where almost all elementary classes will be on double sessions next fall.

In a letter of May 16, the board had asked use of the lobby and the uncompleted north wing from September 1, 1952 to June 1, 1953.

"It is the opinion of the council this is too long a time, and would hinder community activities in the building," Andersen explained.

Auditorium Use

The school board had requested not only the north wing, but also use of the auditorium (to be completed this month) during bad weather. Recreation would be held outside on the Hillside boulevard and Mission street areas in good weather.

"This would hurt plans for landscaping the grounds," Andersen said. "Also, we question the wisdom of letting the children use the auditorium."

A bond issue for approximately $160,000 is to be submitted to residents later this year in an effort to raise funds for completion of the building. If the bond issue passes, the job should be finished by next Spring.

Meanwhile, the city hopes to utilize the completed south wing for various community activities, Andersen said.

Council Rejects Request For Old Folk Home Permit

Explain Delay In Westlake Park

Rejection of a permit for an old folks home, appointment of members to the library commission, and a discussion of the Westlake park highlighted the regular council meeting Monday evening.

The council interpreted the present zoning law as ruling out Mrs. Matilda Stanford's hopes for a rest home at 92 Hillcrest drive. They said the law does not allow this type of construction in a multiple-dwelling area.

Mrs. Stanford had planned to remodel her house for five ambulatory patients.

While Councilmen Paul Green, Edward Dennis, A. J. Gaggero and Jim Kenedy favored turning down the permit, Councilman Joe Verducci dissented. He said as far as he could tell Mrs. Stanford had met all necessary requirements and there was no reason for denying the permit.

This was the first dissenting vote registered by a councilman against the majority on a motion this year.

Library Board

Moving to put the commission form of government in effect here, the council apointed three of the five members to the library commission. The other two members will be named June 23.

Library commission members include: Henry Sundermann, 10 Guadalupe; Jack Marsicano, 27 Hillcrest drive; Margo Westgaard, 233 Wilshire avenue.

The council also introduced ordinances setting up the three-man police commission and five-man fire commission. Members are expected to be named at the next regular meeting.

McGrath Estate Valued At $25,000

An estate of $25,000 has been left by James J. McGrath, who served as San Mateo county's sheriff for 24 years.

In a petition for probate, filed in superior court this week by his sister and executrix, Mrs. Selina Gerdts of San Mateo, the following will was attached:

"I, James J. McGrath, being of sound mind, do hereby write this as my last will and testament. To my brother, Michael J. McGrath, Redwood City, I leave the sum of $10. All money he owes me I hereby cancel.

"To my sister, Mrs. Selina Gerdts, and to my father, John McGrath, Redwood City, I leave everything I own, share and share alike."

McGrath died May 8 of this year after a sudden heart attack in front of his Redwood City home.

His estate consisted of his Redwood City home, a home in San Mateo, two or three unimproved lots, an automobile and less than $2,000 in cash.

Joseph Fitzpatrick, McGrath's attorney, said he knew nothing of any interest in an Idaho cattle ranch, a rumor which had persisted in San Mateo county for several years.

Arraign Redwood Cityite For Resisting Arrest

Charged with drunken driving and resisting arrest, Don Carlos McKim, 3 Garden street, Redwood City, was arraigned Wednesday in Judge William J. Sweeney's justice court.

Tentative trial date has been set for Tuesday, June 24 at 10 a. m.

McKim was arrested May 2 by Daly City police officer Albert Conci, and released on $500 bail.

Conci reported that he joined San Francisco police in a chase after the car McKim was driving, spotted it and told McKim to pull over.

He said he was searching McKim at gunpoint when McKim struck suddenly at his gun arm. Conci responded with a blow on the back of McKim's neck that ended the struggle.

Council Rejects Request For Old Folk Home Permit

Recreation Commission, Mayor Paul Green said the purchase of the 10 acre Westlake park was being held up until the boundary of the new sewage treatment plant is worked out. The park will adjoin the plant which will be located at the intersection of Alemany and Lake Merced boulevard.

Under an agreement with Henry Doelger the city is to purchase approximately 10 acres at a cost of $2,000 an acre. Cost of acreage in this same area is now around $7,000.

City Administrator Dan Andersen said today that approximately $10,000 has been set aside for the park, and an undetermined sum is slated for this year's budget. He said the sanitary district officials have promised to speed up the location specifications for the treatment plant thus clearing the way for the park purchase.

A request of the Recreation Commission to raise the salary of Elman Rose, recreation director, to the level of salaries paid directors in the county was referred to the civil service board of review.

Councilman Verducci requested that at the same time the board set up the qualifications and pay scale for a full time recreation director.

(A full time director is to be appointed when the Community Center is completed.)

City Budget Is Expected To Increase

cil has until July to set the tax rate.

Pay Hike

Daly City's 51 civil service employees will learn June 23 whether or not their request for a flat across the board $40 a month pay raise has been approved by the council. Last year the employees made a similar request, but when the budget was approved came out with a 6 per cent salary increase and hospital insurance.

While the employees will get some increase, it will not be the full $40, which, if granted, would mean an additional $24,480 expense to the city.

Message

In his budget message, the Mayor is expected to outline the city's improvement hopes for 1952-53, which will include:

1. Completion of the Community Center building.
2. Construction of a fire house in Westlake.
3. Modernization of the water system.
4. Building a sewage treatment plant.

(These will go before the people as a four-way bond issue sometime this year.)

5. Street improvements, including the widening of Knowles avenue; completion of Brunswick street.
6. An expanded recreation program, including the purchase of a park site in Westlake.
7. Expansion and improvement of the fire and police departments.

Fireworks Prohibited In Daly City Bounds

Businessmen and children alike were warned today that it is illegal to sell or buy fireworks within the limits of Daly City.

Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy said a city ordinance prohibits sale of the traditional Fourth of July noise-makers.

Further details will be published in next week's RECORD.

Vet Pension Classification Has Been Revised

Many previously ineligible disabled veterans and many widows and children of deceased veterans may be eligible for government pensions under the terms of a law which has just been revised by Congress, according to Floyd D. Granger, Veterans Service Officer of San Mateo county.

Veterans totally and permanently disabled by infirmaties not incurred in military service, or widows of veterans whose deaths were not service-connected, were previously eligible for pensions only if their incomes did not exceed $1000 annually, without dependents, or $2500 with dependents. These limits have been raised to $1400 and $2700 repectively, Granger said. Death pension provisions also exist for the dependent orphans of veterans where both parents have died.

This means that some veterans and the widows and children of some deceased veterans may be eligible for pensions for the first time, or upon reapplication if previous applications were rejected due to income factors.

"The new law takes effect on July 1, 1952," Granger said. "It is not too early for pension applicants whose claims were denied under the old income limitations and who believe they may qualify under the more liberal limitations to file for reconsideration."

Granger stated that no automatic review of such rejected claims will be made by the Veterans Administration. He urged that, in order to determine their possible eligibility, these persons should bring their problems to his attention at the Veterans Service Office, 517 Marshall street, Redwood City (directly in back of the courthouse).

CLASSROOM OF THE FUTURE—Drawing of revolutionary new group driver-training device, the Ætna Drivotrainer, to be installed next fall in a New York City high school, where it will be evaluated for classroom use by the New York board of education's bureau of educational research. Developed by the Ætna Casualty and Surety Company, the Drivotrainer has 15 small "cars" in which students will be given, through the aid of motion pictures and slide films, "behind-the-wheel" driving experience and training in all phases of motor vehicle operation. Instructor's control panel (background) has score card providing instantaneous report as well as permanent record of each pupil's proficiency.

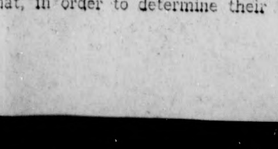
Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

New Life for Old Barn

A CREAKY, unsightly barn or other farm building can be given a new appearance and a longer life by simply covering the unsightly exterior. By using a durable yet inexpensive material, the owner can salvage the old building, make it presentable, and save the cost of a new structure.

Perhaps the old building will serve in its sorry-looking way, but maybe a wind storm will flatten it and any hope of salvage. It's smarter to fix up the old place and protect the investment.

If the framework has sagged, of course, it is a good policy to have a barn raiser get the building straightened up before anything else is undertaken. The old boards should be renailed, where necessary, and missing boards replaced before re-siding the building with Masonite 3/16-inch Tempered Presdwood, which comes in panels 4 feet wide up to 12 feet long.



These tough, strong panels of pressed wood fiber have the advantages of being long-lasting, resistant to weather and wear, rigid but light in weight, and easy to install. Their smooth, hard surface can be painted any color desired. Screen sides of the panels should be scrubbed with water and stacked, moist sides together, for 24 hours before being applied. The stack should be covered to retain moisture.

Each panel, while still damp, is nailed first through the center. Edges are nailed last. Panels ordinarily are applied vertically and brought to moderate contact. Batten strips of the same material, approximately 2¼ inches wide, are applied over the joints.

Civilian Defense

Complete Statewide Alert System Now Being Worked Out By CD Board

California's protective measures against enemy attack will include one of the most complete statewide "alert" systems anywhere in the country when work on its installation is completed, probably in September, Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, State Director of Civil Defense, announced today. It will also be the first statewide installation of its kind in the United States.

Orders already have been placed in some areas of the state with telephone companies, in whose laboratories the system was developed. Preliminary surveys are being completed in others, with top priority going to critical target regions, according to General Robertson.

The new "bell and light" system, so-called because it uses visual and audible signals, will supplant the present dependence of cities and counties for receipt of enemy attack alerts on existing communications facilities such as telephone toll lines and busy radio channels.

New Equipment

With the new equipment, General Robertson explained, all that will be required to flash an instantaneous alarm throughout the entire state will be a simple flick of the wrist. Operators on 24-hour duty in twelve "key points" scattered through the state will dial a code figure on a specially-designed instrument on receipt of the alert from the Air Force's Western Air Defense Headquarters. The signal will be carried simultaneously over special circuits to actuate indicator lights and coded bell signals in receiving points in communities served by the system.

From that stage, however, it is strictly up to local government to determine the means and extent of spreading the alert to the public, General Robertson emphasized. Whether such installations as schools, hospitals, industrial plants, and public utilities should receive the alert, or whether the local community uses its own alert system or extends the state circuit, is purely a matter of local discretion — and financing — he pointed out.

"The determination of facilities to be used by communities is a local responsibility," General Robertson stated. "No recommendation is made (by the state) as to the means or type of equipment a community installs to discharge its responsibility in extending the warning network other than that the system selected be one which has been demonstrated as being effective for dissemination of alert warnings.

Need Survey

"Each community should survey its needs to determine what points would receive alerts—for example, schools, hospitals, fire and police stations, etc.," he added.

A specific allotment of funds for installation of the bell and light system was made by the state legislature at its special session in March. A sufficient amount was earmarked to extend the network to each county and to certain cities in target areas of the state.

High Speed Drivers Are Courting Death

Far to many Californians are driving at speeds which, if an accident occurs, would produce the same damage as though they had plunged off a high building, the California Highway Patrol said today.

Patrol officials pointed out that a car—and its occupants— hitting a solid object at 50 miles per hour would be as severely damaged as though it had been dropped from a 7-story building; at 60 miles per hour, the same as a fall from a 10-story building.

Crocker Hills Lake Still Welcomes Death

It still is no trouble to drown in the Crocker hills reservoir lake.

As of publication date the board of supervisors, as other county officials, have failed to take any action to post warnings around the small lake which in three months has claimed two young lives.

And to the best of our knowledge the city has made no effort to secure such warnings. We grant the land in question is outside the city jurisdiction, but death recognizes no legal boundaries. Your child may be the next one to go under, never to come up again, in the Crocker reservoir.

We would like to see the body of water drained but, this failing, a sign of warning certainly is in order. A sign costs no more than $10 or $15. What price can you put on the life of a 17 year old boy?

Sheer negligence is the only way to properly describe such a condition in the Crocker hills. The lake, within walking distance of any child, poses a constant hazard. This is especially true during the summer vacation season.

We hope that you, as a parent or good citizen, will write your county and city officials before they write you a letter of condolence for a son lost in the lake they forgot to do anything about.

How To Choose A Commissioner

How does the city council go about choosing members for the library, police, planning and other commissions?

This question is of special interest to every citizen, as under the new city government set-up the commissions are going to have much to say about the future of Daly City. Specific commissioners for at least one of these groups have been named, and other candidates will be up before the council shortly.

Ideally, a man or woman is chosen only upon his individual qualifications, including knowledge of a particular field and ability to stand firm, or compromise when necessary. He or she should have but one purpose in accepting a commission post...to serve his fellowmen.

Actually, what happens? In a caucus meeting the city councilmen submit the names of those they think should serve on the commissions. This is done in written form. According to the rules of politics each councilman should be able to select without too much opposition one or two of the commission members. This is not difficult on a five man commission (there are five councilmen) but it is another matter when there are only three positions open...as on the very important police commission.

In other words, a commissioner is chosen more for his right to greet a councilman by his first name than necessarily by his ability.

These are the facts of life and, while they appear far from being as clean as mother's wash, they are actually quite effective and proper.

A councilman with any amount of civic pride, intelligence and conscience will select a man or woman he believes worthy of the position. He, guided by his fellow councilmen, will rarely appoint an incompetent man or woman.

On the other hand, through lack of knowledge, it is possible to select the wrong man or woman for an important job. And it is this failure to thoroughly examine the candidates' qualifications that is the danger. Councilmen who meet but once a week hardly have the time to properly screen every candidate. Therefore, they take it pretty much for granted that the councilman who introduced the candidate knows of whom he speaks.

Verbal Kisses For The City Officials

While we have been quick to lower the boom on the city for failure to speed up the recreation program, we reverse ourselves this week with flowers and verbal kisses.

It seems the city has finally completed Edgewood park, and from all reports it is a good job. We understand, too, the other parks are nearly finished and, with the letting of a contract for utility buildings Monday, we should be able to use all of these playgrounds by mid-summer.

During the past six months there has been a noticeable speed-up in the recreation program. This we believe due to an awakened city council, an alert city administrator and a recreation board which has refused to take "no" for an answer.

A city's work is never done, especially when it is growing like Daly City. The next problem, then, is a park for Westlake. Money, or most of it, has been or will be set aside for the purchase of the site. Where the money for developing the park is to come from is still another matter.

"All we need is another $50,000," a city official said this week as he wrestled with the city budget. The money wasn't forthcoming, so that amount had to be trimmed from civic improvements.

That, we believe, sums up the dilemma of the Westlake park and a good many other recreation needs in Daly City. Find a way to dig up $50,000, or $550,000, and there will be a park in Westlake tomorrow, as well as needed recreation facilities in other sections of the city.

So, have a heart, Mr. and Mrs. Daly City. The city council is trying, slow but sure, to get you your recreation. Trouble is, how are they going to do it without upping taxes? That is the $64 question with a million dollar answer needed.

A DAY FOR FATHER

Dad's a great guy—at least once a year. And the old boy is glad to have the family's adulation, brief though it may be. The rest of the year he's just the guy who leaves in the morning and comes home in the evening on business days, works around the house on weekends and periodically brings home a pay check.

Aside from these functions, he also serves as an arbiter, adviser, answer man, assistant on home work (results not guaranteed), financier and all-around good fellow (when he gives in).

Being a father is not merely a matter of having children. A father doesn't send his youngsters to Sunday School, he takes them. A father doesn't just watch the kids play, he plays with them whenever he can. He takes an active interest in their school program and makes a point of knowing their friends. He makes a sincere effort to understand their problems and their point of view. He demands their respect and he respects them. He doesn't expect a child to act like an adult but through his own example he early instills a sense of responsibility for conduct and consideration for others.

Father may not be the most brilliant man in the world but the family is surprised at what a swell fellow he is — when they stop to notice.

Our Greatest Privilege

Perhaps the most significant — and most encouraging—conclusion to be drawn from this year's primary elections, not only our own California primary of last week but also primaries in other States, is that the American people are aware that the year of 1952 is a time of national crisis and are acting accordingly.

The heavy voting shows this. The issues are too serious, the future too fraught with doubt and danger, to permit indifference. The times have wrought marked change in voter interest. In the Massachusetts primary of 1948, only 5% of eligible voters went to the polls—against 22% this year; New Hampshire's 1948 vote was 25% of eligibles—it jumped to 43% this year; Florida's voter interest exactly doubled—25% in 1948, 50% this time. Our own California primary turnout also shot to a new high.

This trend augurs well for a truly representative expression of national opinion in the "big crucial"—the November general election. Our greatest privilege, the precious franchise, seems suddenly to take on new value now that the chips of national solvency and possible national survival are on the line.

It's Vacation Time

Friday the 13th an unlucky day?

Not Friday the 13th of THIS week! For that's the day Daly City public schools close for the year —and hundreds of study-weary youngsters will rush outdoors for the vacation months that seem so wondrously long to children. And while they probably won't admit it to Junior, most local dads and moms have been looking forward to school-closing and vacation time as eagerly and as impatiently as any kid in the State.

For only California, among all the States, offers within her own borders every variety of scenery, climate and vacation fun that may be found anywhere on the American continent—cool lake country, the winter sports and exhilaration of snow-capped mountains, the spectacular painted desert, very lure of beach and ocean.

When the citizen of benighted Iowa or Kansas wants to enjoy all of these delights, he must prepare for a long journey. All that the fortunate California needs to do is step out into his own backyard, so to speak, and look about him!

Hatch Loses Votes On Coastside

Unhappy about Supervisor Alvin Hatch's asserted failure to represent them in a recent sewer district squabble, residents of Moss Beach and Montara cast 672 protest votes in the June 3 election.

Robert Gowlan, a former air force captain employed as plant manager for Swift & Company in South San Francisco, received the votes.

Gowland carried Montara by 62 votes, receiving 102 to Hatch's 40; and in Moss Beach he received 72 votes compared to 34 for Hatch.

However, Hatch more than carried the county with a total vote of 72,362.

Resident Asserts Editorial Explaining Teacher Salary Status Was In Error

To the Editor:

Your editorial of June 5 on teachers' salaries was so filled with error and poor logic that it would make any reasoning person at least indignant. To one who has been in the teaching profession for nearly ten years and has witnessed at close hand the struggle to achieve a more respectable salary scale, it is a source of great rage, indeed.

There is scarcely a contention in the entire statement that will bear careful examination, but its greatest weakness lies in the failure of the writer to see that by his own basic assumption the major argument stands contradicted.

The writer says that teachers were underpaid twelve years ago. Then, he says, there was justification for salary increases. If that is true, and I heartily agree, then teachers are more underpaid today than they were twelve years ago, in spite of even the most recent raises, received. Average salaries in the Bay Area for starting teachers in the elementary schools were, in 1939, around $1600 a year. This is a figure which could be raised slightly if one considered high school and junior college instructors. This salary was never offered as munificent; it was predicated, as many salaries still are, upon the concept of the teacher as a single woman living at home, interested in earning a living only incidentally.

Current Scale

The current schedule for Daly City now begins at $3600. This figure is only slightly more than double the 1939 figure. Last year's scale began at $2925. What has happened to the value of the dollar, to the cost of living? According to the Bureau of Living Standards' Consumer Price Index for San Francisco, the cost of living has increased by 95% since 1939. In other words, with the recent raise, Daly City teachers during 1952-53 will be 400 seriously devalued dollars ahead of themselves over 1940. If they were underpaid then, they are far from overpaid now, without taking into consideration twelve years of going into the hole because they were earning less real money each year for the last twelve years.

It seems to me that at the outset, then, the editorial contradicts itself. There are other examples of error and faulty thinking, however, which must be mentioned. The editor breaks the new salaries down into eight and nine monthly payments and arrives at figures which apparently impress him as tremendous. $400 or even $450 a month does not stagger my imagination, nor will it stagger the imagination of any one else who tries to support a small family even moderately these days. But the fact remains that in most school systems there are twelve payments a year, and $300 before deductions cannot by any stretch of the imagination be called high pay. Teachers are hired by the year and paid by the year because their services are wanted the year around.

Devotion

There is more to being a good teacher than presiding in the class room. The good teacher's entire consciousness is devoted to cultivating his growth, to making himself into a better instrument for teaching. Some districts require their teachers to return to school, travel, or report on study periodically to qualify for annual increments. Require or not to do so, all good teachers are aware of the need to continue developing, to keep abreast of current ideas in their field and out. No teacher who is forced by economic pressure to work during the summer or after school is doing the best teaching of which he is capable. Also, remember that when teachers return to school during the summer they have expenses which are not deductible as business expenses.

In other words, they are still on the job, even if they are doing no more than recovering, refreshing their spirits, mustering again the energies with which to return to our children patient, calm and understanding. So, eevn ignoring the fact that most teachers do not deceive theiy pay in eight or nine instalments, but in twelve, $450 a month for eight months has no meaning in terms of a service rendered twelve months a year (and more than 40 hours a week as many teachers could testify.)

Lower Start

The next point the editorial makes is that average starting salaries for other college graduates are lower than that of teachers. I fail to see how any absolute comparison can be made among all types of service rendered. But there are some factors worth considering here, nevertheless.

College graduates taking department store jobs in 1939-40 might have expected to begin at around 35 to 50 cents an hour. Now they can begin at $1.15 and up. Teachers have gained less in proportion. But more significant is what has happened to wages in the organized trades and crafts. Fifty cents an hour was a common rate in industry if organized, 25 cents not uncommon in non-union shops. Today $1.50 an hour is a fairly standard minimum, and often is exceeded. This represents an increase of at least 200%—twice what teachers have gained.

Furthermore, many of the professional graduates start at least where teachers will now start but have the prospect of much more rapid and remunerative advancement.

The Secretaries, who earned $85 a month in 1939 can begin at $250 now. In short, other salaries have tripled or quadrupled, against a bare and recent doubling of the teachers' salaries, admittedly too low at the start.

Supply and Demand

The editorial says further that the law of supply and demand has operated to force teachers' salaries up. Perhaps it has, though I have some doubts about the validity of this statement when applied in many specific instances. But let us suppose it has. This means only that communities refrained from putting a decent value upon the services of teachers until they were forced to do so by the refusal of competent people to enter the profession. Not a very flattering picture! Actually it seems to me that only the most dedicated persons remain in the teaching profession today. Mediocre or uninterested people can make much more money elsewhere. Shall the better teachers be penalized for their idealism and told that they must now desist from attempts to better the profession they love because of the law of supply and demand?

State Comparisons

To compare salaries among states as does the editorial has no absolute meaning either. What if statistical averages really meant (as they do not) that all teachers in California make a lot of money —more than teachers elsewhere? The comparison with some of our southern states would be interesting indeed. The basic question still remains: What are we trying to do for our children? Why not take pride in giving them not the best bargain we can find, but simply the best?

I feel the time has come for teachers to stop grovelling, the time has come for us to work for a truly dignified status. We should stop say, "See how poor we are, see how we must supplement our incomes with part time work, see ho wpitiable we are." We should say only, "This is the value we place on our service, with no external considerations, and we are working toward recognition of the value." This is what all other professional people and business men do.

Values

But for those who insist upon compartive values here are two revealing statements: In San Francisco last year, according to figures issued by the California Teachers' Association, the average family unit had an income, after taxes, of $6200. And a student in the IBM classes at City College with no college degree can find employment beginning between $400 and $500 a month—twelve months a year. Neither of these facts will make teachers feel overpaid or overvalued.

Finally, I should like to know what school systems have had to cut salaries. No one working on our salary committee in San Francisco seems to have received any such information.

There is a certain irony in cautioning people who have never had true economic dignity in the first place not to be greedy. Greed can only come after satiety—desire "beyond reason" says Webster—and there's still a long way to go.

Bill Katz . . . FROM A CORNER

It is standard Americana that everybody wants to get ahead. No one seems quite certain why it wouldn't be simpler to stand still, or even move backward. However, this isn't done; you have to get out there and fight.

On this premise a Portland, Oregon, executive (there are only tycoons in Portland, Maine) sat down and wrote a book. After much concentration he called this tome "TNT," or how to be a booming success.

Always anxious to boom, the American public purchased enough copies to make the author rich. They got their money's worth. In 10 chapters, full of punch and ringing with success, readers learned methods of winning fame, fortune and ulcers.

Similar books have done well for their authors. This might lead many to conclude the best way to get ahead is to write. Somehow it doesn't work out that way. There are more would-be writers pushing around manhole covers these days than models for the nickel.

Golden Rules

How do you get to be a success? Rejecting "TNT," we make available to the general public for the first time the lessons we have learned from studying friends, enemies and failures.

In the first place, stop reading about the subject. The time it takes you to read a book you could be knitting sox for the Eskimos.

Second, and most important, get out there and work. Be sure it is the right kind of work. Some people can work and work and work and never get anywhere. This is especially true of testers in a treadmill factory.

Good Line

Pick a lucrative line of labor. Anything with a white collar involved is taboo. A regular workman rarely wears a tie, and a gent with enough money to employ workmen runs around in sport shirts. The boy in the bind is the white collar lad.

Insure your wife for a goodly sum. Some dark night take her for a swim. She doesn't swim? That's just fine. Now, you are a success.

Those squeemish about such things are invited to set up a tatooing shop in Venezuela. There is a definite need for such artists around the head hunter territory. As long as the profits, and not the customers, go to your head you will do fine.

Iron Hand

Develop a steely stare and an iron hand grip. This instills confidence in everyone you meet. It is also fine training for the wrestling ring.

Probably the best way to be a success is to forget about the whole thing. All the successful men we ever knew, and we could count them on six toes, didn't worry much. They were smart enough to marry a rich wife or inherit a fat income.

Keith Gardner . . . OFF THE RECORD

It's getting so a man can't turn around these days without being confronted by a full-color image of Marilyn Monroe. This is a fate I'm prepared to face indefinitely.

Walk in any cigar store and Miss Monroe's face and so forth may be seen on the cover of every girlie magazine in the joint. Meanwhile the editors of such as "The Physics and Chemistry Review" smoke the long pipe in hopes of dreaming up an excuse to mingle Marilyn with the bunsen burners and atom smashers that grace their publications.

Only a cyclotron could love another cyclotron.

The cause of all this furor is a young lady who appears from time to time in motion pictures. She doesn't sing, dance or tell jokes. Also, her few roles haven't called for any noticeable thespian talents.

This description also applies to 1,001 young actresses. Why, then, has Marilyn become so prominent in the public eye (aside from the obvious answer, that is)?

The answer is that she is frank. Someone must have told her that honesty is the best policy and she has taken it to heart.

They asked her why she posed for a calendar picture and she said she needed the money (this was not the kind of calendar you hang in the kitchen. Not if you're married, anyway). They said what do you do when a guy takes you out to dinner? Marilyn said she didn't pay much attention to the food.

This is the kind of response that sets press-agents adreaming Press-agents differing from editors in that they need no stimulus to put their imaginations in overdrive.

They dreamed awhile and eventually came up with as pretty a fairy tale as Hans Christian Andersen ever wrote. It was Marilyn the Unspoiled. Marilyn the Ingenuous, Marilyn the Girl-We-Would - Like - To - Hold - Hands - With. We do not even mention her marriage at the age of 16 in the same breath.

They also came up with the real gem of the lot—Marilyn the Intellectual. She listens to the atonal music of modern classical composers, they said. And she reads poetry and philosophy.

At this point my credulity, which has the elasticity of pure rubber where women are concerned, gives up the ghost. A short stroll down memory lane brings me face to face with Liz Tayor, Virginia Mayo, Rita Hayworth, Ann Sheridan, etc., etc., etc.

I have an all-too-vivid remembrance of carrying a fairly bright torch for each of these beldames in succession. So phooey on press-agents and the glittering wenches they publicize. I am going back to my first love. The idol of my younger years.

Buck Jones' white horse had his drawbacks, but by gad at least he never read poetry.

In the wake of the recent Supervisoral contest, Anthony J. Gaggero expressed his thanks and appreciation for the voter support given him at the polls.

Former Daly City Mayor Justifies Action Of Council In Holding Caucuses

June 10, 1952

The Record, Editor
Dear Sir:

Your recent article in reference to the practice by our City Councilmen of having meetings other than regular scheduled public meetings, so-called caucus meetings, prompted me to look back over my many years as Mayor and Chairman of the Board of Supervisors and analyze the experiences of those years for an appraisal of the merits of such a practice.

In my opinion it would be absolutely impossible for City Councilmen to act intelligently on matters before them and in the interests of our city and its people without taking time for those meetings among themselves and also with representatives from all branches of our city government, department heads, commissions, committees, interested parties, etc.

Quite naturally I am assuming that those unofficial meetings held between Council meetings are in the public interest and not the kind wherein the people's interests are secondary.

As I see it, such meetings when held truly in the public interest and in keeping with the obligations public officials owe to those who elect them to office constitute one of the most valuable services that Councilmen can render.

In regard to the lack of attendance at Council meetings; An attitude on the part of the Council indicating that interest by the public is appreciated would help considerably I am sure. Why not a return to the plan of years gone by when those present were encouraged to take part by their being asked if they wished to take up any matter with the Board or were interested in any matter being considered and then given attention when they did speak.

Very sincerely yours,

Resident Reminds Readers Of The Man Who Has Quietly Served As Judge

(Editor's Note: While fully in accord with the sentiments of Mr. Colthurst, we remind readers that Judge W. J. Sweeny is far from "finished." He still has six months of active duty, before he is relieved of his job. Under the new courts system, the police courts are being abolished in favor of a municipal court. In January, 1953, newly elected Judge Thomas Bocci will replace Judge Sweeney and other police court judges.)

June 10, 1952

The Record, Editor
Dear Sir:

The electorate were treated to a rather spectacular campaign for Judge of the newly created Municipal Court which supersedes our local City Court.

Now that the smoke of battle has subsided and the issue settled, it would be well to remember the retiring Judge of our local City Court who has served this community faithfully and well for many years.

Judge William Sweeney, a pioneer of Daly City and one of its leading citizens, is deserving of our gratitude for the quiet and efficient manner in which he has conducted the affairs of his court.

In dispensing justice, Judge Sweeny has never been blind to human frailty and his judgments more often than not were tempered with mercy.

Yours very truly,
John E. Colthurst

From the Old Testament:
Psalms 106:15—"And he gave them their request, But sent leanness into their soul."

The psalmist was recalling the history of God's people, how they forgot their many deliverances and blessings from the Lord. In their selfishness they desired much that was contrary to God's will. He gave them their requests, what they wanted most in life, but there was no escaping the results of their wilfulness. "He sent leanness into their souls." Even today people are getting what they want most in life, but like the men of old, they are experiencing a leanness which may well end in disaster.

From the New Testament:
I Timothy 6:6 — "But godliness with contentment is great gain."

Paul had just spoken of misguided persons who assumed the guise of righteousness—"supposing that godliness is a way of gain." They were looking for material rewards for their goodness, and were disappointed. On the other hand, if one truly loves the good life and is content to be a child of God, his reward is great both here and in the hereafter.

Auxiliary Receives Poppy Sale Check

Joe Monks, vice-commander of Lake Merced VFW Post No. 9921, presented members of the post auxiliary with a check from the proceeds of the recent Buddy Poppy sale Tuesday.

The money will go into the auxiliary's relief fund for the aid of needy veterans.

At the Tuesday meeting, the auxiliary also voted to join with the post in a Tri-City Fall Festival, to be held over the Labor Day weekend. All money derived from the festival will be used in the organization's youth guidance program.

The auxiliary moved to extend its appreciation to Mell Craemer and Vera Whittke of Shaw's for allowing use of window space for a Buddy Poppy display.

Reports of recent activities disclosed that four members of the auxiliary posted the group's colors at Golden Gate National cemetery on Memorial Day. They were Hazel Eagleton, Maryann Read, Stella Magoon and Hilda Stettler.

On June 4, Rose Fisher, Jean Cuykendall and Anita Woods attended a meeting of the county council, at which time, Rose Fisher was installed as patriotic instructor for the county. Installation was made by Ethel Dorn of Old Glory auxiliary No. 2044.

It was decided at the meeting that auxiliary members would meet June 17 at the home of Stella Magoon to dress two dolls that will be displayed at the VFW National Encampment, to be held in August in Los Angeles. The dolls wil lbe sold as souvenirs.

Concluding the week's business, plans were made for a joint picnic with the post at Flood Park early in August.

Local Woman Surprised At Recent Baby Shower

Wednesday, June 4, 1952, Mrs. Theora Stevenson and her daughter, Gwen Windham, gave a surprise baby shower for Mrs. Ora Kay Stevenson at their home, 184 East Vista avenue.

Pink and blue decorations were used throughout the rooms and Mrs. Stevenson received many beautiful and useful baby things. After the gifts had been opened and viewed refreshments were served by the hostesses. The baby cake was especially beautiful, together with the squares of ice cream which had baby shoes and a miniature baby on top, coffee and tea.

Those present were Mesdames: Ora Miller, Metta Beautinoff, Betty Tiner, Berniece Cunningham, Vera Caus, Charlotte Dibbel, Kitty Dibble, Beulah Brown, Jane Hall, Genevieve Stucci, Shirley Walker, Ann Chellew, and Shirley Pope.

CAUSES UPHOLSTERY WEAR

Dust and grit in it and not the usage it gets is the greater cause of upholstery wear, according to the National Automobile Club. Worked into the fabric of the seat covering, these foreign substances wear and cut until the material takes on a decidedly shabby appearance. A vigorous brushing followed by application of the vacuum cleaner will remove the destructive elements. It should be done once a month or so.

Sheridan PTA Plans Picnic

The first summer picnic for Sheridan PTA members and their friends is to be held at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, June 18, at Ocean View playground.

Mrs. Edward Felker, recreation chairman, and Mrs. E. I. Dreiling, co-chairman, are in charge.

It has been the custom for Sheridan PTA to hold bi-monthly picnics during school vacation as a part of the program of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers which stresses successful family living. Sheridan PTA also plans to include at least one Sunday picnic in the summer program.

Members are requested to watch the Ocean View library window for dates of subsequent picnics. Notices will also be sent to local newspapers.

Ridgely Cummings . . . HOLLYWOOD

If I may be pardoned for temporarily abandoning the Hollywood scene this week, I'd like to say a few hundred carefully chosen words about Dwight Delightful Eisenhower and his much-touted charm.

As far as I'm concerned, Ike has less charm than Boris Karloff made up for the role of Frankenstein. I can't see him as the next president.

I make this statement after listening carefully to his Abilene speech the day he took off his soldier suit and went through the hokus-pocus preliminary to endorsing the General Ike Eisenhower Memorial Museum for perpetuation of his military trophies.

Grave Concern

It seems like all our big shots lately are developing a grave concern for the opinions of posterity and are setting up memorials or museums of one kind or another to keep their own memory green.

Herbert Hoover started the trend with the library on the Stanford campus but, to Hoover's credit, the emphasis in Palo Alto was on scholarship rather than glorification of the engineer president.

Then there was FDR at Hyde Park, with Eleanor and Elliott handling the hot dog and Christmas tree concessions.

After Roosevelt came Truman with a plan to preserve the state papers and documents of his regime in a massive mausoleum in some little town in Missouri.

And now Ike is getting in on the act. And Ike isn't even an ex-President yet, nor, as I write this, is he the official nominee of his party for the post.

Fund Drive

If plain Mr. Ike, as his campaign managers love to call him, can do it, that leaves the door open to all comers and I'm seriously considering appealing for funds to endow the Ridgely Cummings Museum for Rejected Manuscripts and Impolite Letters from Editors. I've got enough to make a good start. Manuscripts that is, not money.

Here in Hollywood Eisenhower has a number of vociferous supporters among the big names but I detect a strong trend away from him among the rank and file with whom I associate most frequently.

When word came that Ike was going to make his maiden political speech on a Wednesday from Abilene at 4 p.m. Hollywood time, I determined to watch it on television. I don't have a set myself but number among my acquaintances a dozen agents, actresses and musicians who do.

Invite

So I passed the word around that I was available for a 4 p.m. invitation. I have no trouble getting to see the Kentucky Derby and championship prize fights but this time, it developed, none of the set owners was sufficiently interested to go home in the afternoon and turn on the switch. They just didn't care what Ike had to say or how he looked as he said it.

To several of them I pointed out that the speech was one of the most dramatic events of 1952.

"Here's a man," I said, "who is coming home a popular hero. Thus far he has avoided concrete statements on domestic affairs with the excuse that he is not entitled to speak out while in uniform.

"Now he's on the spot. He's taking off his general's stars and must say something. What he says can sweep the country with enthusiasm or it can furnish ammunition for Senator Taft and his other opponents.

Great Spot

"What a spot for his speechwriter to be in. And what an opportunity. I'd like to be writing that speech today but since I can't I'm certainly going to listen."

All that sounds eloquent enough to intrigue anybody but it didn't raise a buyer. So I had to listen to Ike on the radio.

The general talked for half an hour and said practically nothing.

He revealed that he stands four-square for religion and patriotism. He came out strongly in favor of home, mother and life on a Kansas farm. And he revealed that he has no use for inflation, deflation and sin.

The Abilene speech was a colossal flop. The next day Taft, on a radio program, said in answer to a question that he thought the speech had hurt Ike and helped his own candidacy. I agree.

Ike is no radio orator. He's even worse than Taft. With his rasping, croaky voice Taft sounds cold and ill-tempered but the man's sincerity comes through and his listeners get the feeling that he understands exactly what he is saying and believes it.

Memory Power

On the contrary, Ike sounded much like a high school valedictorian who has memorized his speech and carefully marked the spots where he is supposed to put emphasis. His voice rose and fell but the words, mostly empty, hollow, platitudinous phrases at that, remained just words, without conviction.

Woodrow Wilson Students Given Safety Awards

Presentation Made By The P. T. A.

With the assistance of the Daly City Police Department the students of Woodrow Wilson school have been studying the rules of safety at home, at school and in the street.

To further impress the need for safety measures at all times, the children participated in a poster contest. The results were excellent and Miss Armantrout, art teacher, found the judging of the posters difficult.

On Tuesday, June 10, at 9 o'clock, Mrs. Hahn, principal, presided over a program for the children. Officer Henry Sundermann spoke to the children once again, reminding them of the importance of following the safety rules during their summer vacation.

In behalf of the PTA, Mrs. F. Cunningham, president, assisted by the safety chairman, Mrs. A. Eikenberry, presented prizes to the following:

Marcia Ojakian, Miss Varni's first grade;

Jimmy Gray, Miss Beber's third grade;

Peter Lindstrom, Mrs. Herzer's fourth grade.

The following received honorable mention:

Linda Siegel, Miss Watson's kindergarten;

Nadine Carter, Mrs. Eddy's kindergarten;

Renee Champion, Mrs. Fackler's first grade;

Dale De Brune, Mrs. Brown's first grade;

Vincent Aircardi, Mrs. Bolstad's second grade;

Yolande Tarango, Mrs. Watson's second grade;

Moy Alarcon, Miss Sharp's second grade;

Sandra Calavano, Miss Schmale's third grade;

Richard Bradford, Mrs. Rogers' third grade;

Mary Ellen Unger, Mrs. Wood's fifth grade.

Honorable mention also went to Peg Van Otten, Robin Mills, Kathy Pellandini, Carol Cericola, Sally Seigart, and Judy Litton of Mrs. Randolph's fourth grade, for group participation on their winning poster.

Miss Gattuccio, school nurse, and a favorite with the students, wished them a safe and happy vacation. Superintendent of schools Weibel rounded out the program with a final warning to play safe and be safe.

Present Awards To New Merced VFW Officers

Medal and Bar insignias were presented to newly elected and appointed officers of Lake Merced Post No. 9921, V.F.W., at a colorful presentation ceremony at the Broadmoor Community Center last Thursday.

Presentations of the awards were made by Past Commander Godfrey Woods, who congratulated the post on its growth, both in members and activities.

The post has as its objective, a program of community aid which is carried out by both helping veterans and their families and assisting youth benefit programs in the community, reports A. L. Cuykendall, adjunct of the post.

"These activities," he added, "are of course in addition to the post's visits to veterans hospitals. Many hospitalized veterans depend solely on the VFW for cigarettes, candy, and so forth, and much of their entertainment."

Many a car owner becomes so obsessed with the quantity of service he gets from a certain part of the car that he forgets all about quality, points out the National Automobile Club. An illustration is provided by the spark plug that gives one hundred thousand miles of service. That is a lot but the same cannot be said for the quality.

New Children's Home Plan Studied

Plans and specifications for a new $42,000 county dependent children's home are being drawn up today.

The county board of supervisors recently authorized the move to provide temporary placement for dependent and delinquent children. Site of the new home, which is aime dat relieving overcrowded conditions at Hillcrest, is near the Community Hospital.

County Manager E. Robert Stallings said the location of the home will in no way interfere with the master plan for the ultimate development of the Community hospital.

Youth Suffers Minor Injuries In Accident

Bicycles figured twice in the Daly City news over the weekend.

Eight-year-old Walter Simrock, 1076 Brunswick street collided, while riding his bike late Thursday afternoon, with an auto driven by John Christensen, 199 Frankfort street, Daly City.

Walter was taken to Junipero Serra hospital for treatment of minor injuries. His bicycle was slightly damaged and no damage to Christensen's auto was reported.

Daly City police also are investigating the theft of a bicycle stolen Thursday from Benny Pettigew, 443 Irvington street. Pettigrew discovered the theft at 3:30 p.m. when he came out of class at Jefferson Union high school and found his bicycle missing.

Mateans Win Local Crown

Jeffs Lose Two-Year Grip On PAL Championship

Jefferson lost its two-year death grip on the Peninsula Athletic League Saturday by dropping the third game of their series with San Mateo. The score: 1-0.

This was one of those tough-to-take defeats. The Jeffs had struggled hard to get into the final round with San Mateo; had dropped the first tilt of the best two-out-of-three series, and came back strong to tie the playoffs up at 1-1.

San Mateo's star hurler, Dick Matlock, was the hero of the game, authoring a two-hitter for himself. Matlock whizzed six and walked none. Jeff pitcher Joe Lewkowitz passed two and fanned four—allowing only two hits. Unfortunately, the last one counted.

Both moundsmen threw one-hit ball until the seventh frame. Then Matlock granted a single to Jeff second baseman Dick Trantham, and Lewkowitz, in his turn, let San Mateo's Staley line-drive one. Don Delbon, who did a beautiful work on the mound in the second game, tried for a shoe-string catch and missed. Staley went all the way.

That wound up the ball game and the championship.

At the second game, Friday, the shoe was on the other foot with a vengeance. Coach Clarence Lair's men made the old school try then, and emerged with a 2-1 win.

Delbon took the mound and threw what was probably the best game of his season. He granted two hits and six walks and sent seven Mateans back to the bench with strikeouts.

Both Jeff runs came from third baseman Don Wilson. The third sacker picked up a walk in the eighth frame and came home on an infield grounder by teammate Larry Blanchard.

That clinched it. Wilson had previously done similar work in the third. Walking on base, and coming in on a one-base hit by shortstop Ray Rosa.

So the PAL trophy, which has resided at Jefferson since 1950, went back to San Mateo, who last held it in 1949.

The one virtue, say the Jeffs, of losing something like that, is that you then have the pleasure of winning it back. At least, that's what they hope to do next season.

Announce New Jeff Coaching Lineup

Some major changes in coaching assignments for the 1952-53 season at Jefferson Union high were announced here recently.

The big shifts were brought on by the retirement of Glenn South from active coaching. South, varsity baseball and football coach for some time now, started the just-completed baseball season as team mentor, but gave it up when an appendicitis attack hospitalized him.

He left the reins in the capable hands of Coach Clarence Lair, and announced at that time that he would devote full time in the future to his duties as Dean of Boys at the school.

Lair, also pressed by non-athletic duties, will confine himself next season to the frosh-soph baseball squad. The varsitymen will be under Louis Martin.

On the football scene, Joseph McGrath will do the honors with the varsity team, with the assistance of Anthony Giamona. Frosh-soph football will be handled by erstwhile track mentor Ernest Ribera and Martin.

Head Coach Michael Orlich will continue with varsity basketball and the 110-120 basketball chores in addition. Giamona will take over the 130 Basketball coaching chores.

Track will continue under the leadership of Ribera and John Matthews. Matthews will also handle golf.

With a coaching lineup like that, the Jeffs are looking forward to a successful year.

Women Motorcyclists Invade Belmont Track

Competitive sports, a field in which male performers have long since lost their exclusive rights, are about to be invaded by the women again.

Belmont Speedway announced today that it would host the nation's first women motorcycle races on Saturday night, June 21. Feminine bike riders occasionally have entered local field meets and hill climbs in the past, but never before have attempted the dangerous speed contests.

The sponsoring Women Riders Incorporated organization disclosed that the weekly racing shows would offer guaranteed $500 prize purses. More than 20 Northern California girl riders already have signed for the inaugural competition, its officials said.

URGE YOUNGSTERS TO SIGN UP FOR FISHING

"T-F Day" is June 26 for the Daly City fire department and youngsters under the age of 14. On that date the fire department is sponsoring a Trout Fishing Day at Lake Merced for all who wish to sign up.

All the small-fry anglers have to do is sign up at the Company No. 2 firehouse, located at the corner of Parkview and Santa Barbara avenues, and be ready to leave the fire house at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Tackle will be provided for those who do not have suitable trout fishing equipment of their own. However, those who do are asked to use their own and allow a less fortunate fisherman to use the fire department's tackle.

The youngsters should bring their own lunch and be prepared for a full day's fishing. The firemen will conduct them to the lake at 8 a. m. and bring them back at 3 p. m. Firemen and members of the Daly City Sportsmen will remain to supervise throughout the day.

Fishing instructions will be offered by such crack anglers as A. J. Bodien, A. Sundstrom. F. Bertetta and Ed Goldkuhl. The prospective anglers are asked to sign up as soon as possible so that transportation arrangements can be made.

VERDUCCI SPEAKS ON SPORTS TRAINING

"Sports participation contributes to the mental and social development of boys," according to Joseph Verducci, Daly City councilman and director of athletics at San Francisco State college, speaking at a meeting of the Westlake Parent Teacher Association, Thursday, June 5.

"Sports," he continued, "are a social laboratory providing situations where the competitor learns to think quickly and act accordingly, making the quickest personality adjustments.

"Parents may benefit from their boys' association with his coach and fellow players, learning how to handle boys and whether the boy is liked by his teammates, and if not, why?"

Verducci stressed that in life as in sports the individual must follow the accepted rules, sacrifice self for the game, accept success without foolish pride and defeat without humiliation.

"The boy who develops loyalty, leadership and responsibility through sports participation gains a great start in preparing himself to be a good citizen," he concluded.

Bats, balls, and catcher's equipment will be furnished by the department for all general district leagues and for championship games. Agencies conducting their own divisional play within the league must provide their own equipment.

City Employes Discuss Problems

The number of working days and hours for city employes was the principal discussion at the regular meeting of the California League of City Employes Association held in Santa Cruz last Saturday.

Representing the Daly City employes at the meeting was Mrs. Evelyn Cahn, secretary for the local association.

A resolution was drawn up requesting cities to grant all employes a five day work week. All Daly City employes now enjoy this benefit.

The group also discussed the possibility of all cities joining in one health plan so as to cut down cost of separate plans.

The California League of City Employes Association is made up of the majority of city employes associations throughout northern California. Daly City joined the group three months ago.

Hands Off Wildlife Officials Warn

California's wildlife babies are in for another round of the "vacationer's plague," which Department of Fish ang Game employees consider more troublesome than many types of natural predation and pestilence.

The peak of the annual "disease" occurs during the months of June, July and August, the department laments, when vacationers afield vent their otherwise well-meaning adoptive complexes on helpless wildlife youngsters.

Deer fawns, especially, are the prey of vacationers who often consider them abandoned by their mothers. Almost without exception, the department asserts, the doe is hidden nearby, watching the tragic adoption proceedings.

Later, State wardens and zoo officials are burdened with requests from the interim parents to take the troublesome step-children off their hands. Returning the "Shanghai-ed" youngster to its parents or original environment is nearly impossible, the department warns.

Step-parents of deer and other wildlife may often look forward to damaged gardens or crops, expensive upkeep, and death or injury from their growing wards.

And if that isn't enough to make the possessive vacationer think twice before picking up an "abandoned" animal, the department reports that the maximum fine for the offense is $500, with an additional threat of six months in jail added to the sentence.

Salinas Rodeo Slated For Next Week-End

Those men with the big hats and jangling spurs who make their living risking their necks aboard wildly bucking broncos and madly charging bulls were heading from all parts of the United States to this rodeo capital of the world today.

Their goal was the California Rodeo's June 19-22 biggest show and the "pot of gold" of more than $45,000 that lies at the end of the trail.

But only the champions and near-champions were making these long treks, for the chance of an ordinary rider coming out on the profitable end at Salinas was practically nil.

And this year such a prospect for the average rider practically vanished as Ki Silacci's arena committee "hand-picked" every single bucking horse and Brahma bull to be used here during the four days.

Each was picked for his roughness, toughness or meanness. Faced by such a tough prospect, cowboys can expect nothing but the roughest rodeo ever staged anywhere in the entire United States. Arena committeemen had to study the records of more than 1,000 buckers and bulls owned by a half dozen stock suppliers before they could find the roughest, toughest and meanest horses in the rodeo business.

Daly City Firemen Down Colma Softball Team

Softball league play has again started in Daly City with two fire department teams battling it out Tuesday, June 10 at the Jefferson High diamond in the first practice game of the season.

The Daly City Fire department's team met one sponsored by the Colma Fire Department at that time and the Daly Citymen triumphed 7-4.

The Daly City team consists of: Lawrence Kennedy, team manager; G. Bacciocco, first sacker; Larry Kennedy, second baseman; G. Fontana, shortstop; A. Figone, third sacker; J. Gallenger, hurler; C. Maynard, catcher; F. Mickey, right field; V. Waligosa, center field; J. Murphy, left field, and D. Kalinin, W. Alexander and G. Debono.
